ISUAA—serving annuitants and survivors since 1971

From the ISUAA president

Greetings,

I hope this edition of the ISUAA newsletter finds you doing well and thriving through another winter wherever you are. As you may recall from the last newsletter, ISUAA has seen a change in leadership. Gail Lamb's term as president ended in the fall, and I stepped into the position on an interim basis until such time that a permanent president can be elected. I will continue in my role as vice president during this period of transition.

I want to thank Gail for her more than four years of service as president. She stepped up in a time of need for the organization and provided leadership and continuity after the sudden passing of Charlie Harris. Without her cheerful presence and dutiful organization, this transition would not have gone so well. She has been there as a guiding presence and mentor, holding my hand and teaching me the ins and outs of the job. I know all ISUAA members give her a heartfelt thanks for the work she has done. But she isn't walking away, she will continue to serve as a board member at-large and provide counsel and leadership.

As much as Gail has been a value, the entire board has served us well as I continue to learn. Many are longstanding members and possess remarkable knowledge and expertise in all areas that are important to the board's functions. They provide this for all of us. Without their tireless effort and dedication, ISUAA could not continue to fulfill its mission as an advocate for Illinois State University annuitants. Whether you are retired and drawing a pension, or currently working and contributing to SURS, remember that SUAA and ISUAA continue to advocate for the rights of members and protections of our promised benefits.

I want to invite you to our next lunch meeting scheduled for Wednesday, March 16. It is a great opportunity to reconnect with colleagues, learn about the work of SUAA, and enjoy programming including speakers of note and live entertainment. Our December meeting featured Bill Legett, ISU director of Event Management, Dining, and Hospitality (EMDH). Bill talked about the recent renovations to the Bone Student Center and gave a lively and informative overview of the varied and non-stop work that happens in the facility.

Finally, if you are interested in helping us, the ISUAA invites you to consider a position on the board. We are always looking for new faces and new ideas and would love to hear from you.

I look forward to continuing my service to ISUAA and its members and welcome feedback on how your local chapter and the state organization may better inform and serve you.

How time flies

By April Karlene Anderson-Zorn, university archivist,

150 years ago—1872

- The Illinois Natural History Museum curator John Wesley Powell resigned at the Board of Education meeting on June 26, 1872. Samuel Moulton appointed Jesse Fell, Enoch Gatsman, and Charles Noetling as the committee commissioned to nominate the next Museum curator.

100 years ago—January-March 1922

- The junior class was said to be ‘seriously considering’ a play written by University High School alumni and former Bloomington resident Rachel Crothers. 39 East gained popularity in New York and Chicago and became a popular film starring Constance Binny. Though a strong contender, the junior class was still in deliberations and reported to The Vidette, “More will be said of the play in a later issue.” The Vidette, January 11, 1922 (Vol. 34, No. 16, pg 3).
- Maude Kettering, the first matron of Fell Hall, died February 10 after a fall in the women’s dormitory. Upon the news of her February 5 hospitalization, a dance planned at Fell Hall that night was canceled. Her funeral was held on February 11 in the living room of Fell Hall, the third funeral ever held on campus. The Vidette, February 8, 1922 (Vol. 34, Nos. 20, pg 3); February 15, 1922 (Vol. 34, Nos. 21, Pg 1 and 4).
- During a student body session, President Felmley asked all Juniors who planned to return the next year to stand. Two hundred twenty-nine students were recognized, while 202 were slated for graduation that semester. These students represented the largest graduating classes to date at the University. The Vidette, March 22, 1922 (Vol. 34, No. 25, Pg 1).

75 years ago—January-March 1947

- Twenty-five families and 42 men moved into the brand new housing complex for student veterans off Suddath Road. The barrack-style housing, constructed under the Landham Act, provided “housing for distressed veterans, servicemen, and their families who are attending educational institutions.” The housing was shipped in and constructed by the federal government while the institution provided the location, provided utilities, and roadways. The Vidette, January 29, 1947 (Vol. 59, No. 14, pg 1).
- The new semester saw 1,677 students enroll at the University. Of that, 606 students were veterans. The number of male students (827) was slightly higher, likely due partly to the increase of service members’ discharges from the military. The Vidette, February 5, 1947 (Vol. 59, No. 15, pg 1).

50 years ago—January-March 1972

- In a letter to the editor, “Debbie” voiced support for changing dormitory guest visitation windows to 24 hours. Debbie pointed to the University’s move to coed dormitories; allowing visitors at any hour would enable students time to adjust to coed living. As Debbie argued, “It isn’t fair to have restrictions on some dorm’s guest hours and not others—there should be the same opportunity for all students, not just those in coed dorms.” The Vidette, January 11, 1972 (Vol. 84, No. 36, pg 4).

- President Berlo nominated Gene Budig as the new vice president and dean of the University. If approved by the Board of Regents, Budig would be the first to serve in the revamped role of dean of the University. After the resignation of Richard Bond from his role as dean of faculty, Berlo redesigned the position. With his expected approval by the Board of Regents, Budig was scheduled to start his duties on June 1. The Vidette, February 15th, 1970 (Vol. 84, No. 41, pg 1-2).
- Phil Stephen and Jim Manis of the UNITY party won the ISU Student Government elections as president and vice president. Stephen won with 2,225 votes, while Manis won with 2,215 votes out of 4,144 votes. The student body that year totaled over 17,000. The computer that tallied the votes completed its task with a note to the victors: “Congratulations to the winners, have fun don’t work too hard the result is calculated by me, supercomputer third generation. Winning the election, however, is the responsibility of the candidate.” The Vidette, March 2, 1970 (Vol. 84, No. 47, Pg 1).

25 years ago—January-March 1997

- To fund new campus construction and renovations, the University proposed a student fee increase between $100 and $129 a year. The fees would pay down, over time, $42 million in bonds that would fund the construction of a new parking deck, the construction of the Performing Arts Center, and the renovations of some residence halls. The student referendum passed on February 13, 1997—that year’s observance of Founders Day.

The General Education Program, a new program replacing a freshman-level curriculum known as the University Studies Program, was approved by the Academic Senate on March 5, 1997.

SUAA Fall Meeting

By Larry Alferink

The Fall SUAA House of Delegates Meeting was held November 17 at the Alumni Center. The Bylaws require that the proposed budget for 2022 be approved at this meeting and that the delegates also approve an update to the SUAA Legislative Platform. SUAA is in good financial condition currently, due in part to limited in-person meetings due to COVID-19. The 2022 budget was approved with a projected budget surplus. The updated Legislative Platform was approved after some discussion and is posted on the SUAA website.

Mike Maloney, the SUAA lobbyist, made a presentation on the redistricting process, the changes in the legislative seats for each party, and what it might mean for SUAA. At the time of the presentation, the new legislative map for the state was in court to resolve challenges on constitutional issues and minority representation for the Metro East districts near St. Louis and in Chicago. Due to redistricting issues related to the delayed release of the 2021 census data, the state primary election has been moved from March to June 28. Thus, the legislative calendar will be shortened to allow members to campaign before the primary election.

Estate gift commitment honors twin sisters' art legacies

By Laura Freyman

A recent estate gift commitment from Art Professor Emerita Dr. Susan Amster will further the study of art at Illinois State University. The gift honors her twin sister, Stephanie Amster, who died at age 80 on February 12, 2021. Both sisters created a legacy of teaching and inspiring as art faculty members at Illinois State.

Stephanie earned a bachelor's and master's in fine art from the University of Texas in 1962 and 1968. Susan earned a bachelor's in art from the University of Texas in 1962, a master's in art from East Texas State in 1968, and a Ph.D. in education from the University of Texas in 1972.

Stephanie found a job teaching junior high in New York in 1963. Susan moved to Dallas to teach elementary school. It was the first time the twins had ever lived apart.

The twins later moved into higher education as Stephanie was hired to teach art education at Illinois State.

After finishing her dissertation, Susan joined Stephanie in Normal. "I snuck in on Stephanie's coattails. She did everything well, so I just followed her," said Susan with a laugh. "It worked out well for me."

Susan taught future elementary teachers how to include art in their classrooms. Stephanie took on a broader course load, including classes in 2D and 3D design. She later taught computer graphics and established a study abroad program for the art department in Florence, Italy, her favorite city.

Perhaps Stephanie's most notable achievement was the creation of an arts festival at Ewing Manor in 1972, for which she personally fundraised for 18 years. She remained an influential figure in local and national art communities until her passing in 2021.

"Stephanie had 30 wonderful years at ISU. I had 28. We thought we would like to continue contributing in some way," said Susan.

The Stephanie H. Amster Design Scholarship was established in Stephanie's honor in 1982 to reward students who exemplify leadership, academic proficiency, art talent, and a commitment to excellence in art.

After Stephanie died, Susan decided to expand upon her sister's investment.

New provisions in Susan's estate plans will enhance Stephanie's existing scholarship. It's her way of honoring Stephanie's many years of dedication to the Ewing Arts Festival.

Additional funds from Susan's estate will create a scholarship for art education majors with preference given to students who demonstrate financial need, creative thinking ability, dynamic teaching potential, and a humanitarian philosophy.

"My favorite quote is: 'Art is the root, and life is the flower,'" said Susan. With her gift, she strengthens already deep roots at Illinois State in hopes students grow through their love of art.

Future funding from bequests and deferred gift commitments has reached more than $100 million. To learn more about naming Illinois State University as a beneficiary in your will, retirement account, or other aspect of an estate, visit GiveTo.IllinoisState.edu.
