From the ISUAA president

We are so close to welcoming back spring! Sooner than we think, the Quad will be filled with a wide array of green grass and leaves highlighting students out enjoying the warm weather.

Founders Day has always been one of my favorite times on the ISU calendar. We honor that group of dedicated people who 166 years ago committed their lives to creating this university we've all called home. When spring fully arrives, gift yourself with the treat of a slow, lazy walk around the Quad. Find the Granger Rock. Check out the Old Main cenotaph, the Fell and Lincoln Gates. Take the time to read the plaques on the buildings, the benches, and the rocks. Let the rich history of Illinois State surround you. Picture President Hovey drilling students on the Quad readying them to join the 33rd Teachers Regiment of the Civil War. Imagine Angie Milner chatting with students in the Great Reading Rooms of old Milner Library. Or Jessie Fell planting all these trees to turn a swampy cornfield into a beautiful forest. Personally, I see Jude Boyer clicking her way across the sidewalks and President Bowman chatting with students in the Sassafras Grove outside Hovey Hall as they ponder how he always stays so crispy clean. Like many of you, Illinois State has been a vital part of more than half of my lifetime. As the president of ISUAA and as a "part-time extra-helper" in Student Health Services, I'm intentionally continuing that relationship into my future. Remember that lesson from the last newsletter? We're "resolving to devote our energies to personally chosen pursuits." One of my personally chosen pursuits includes ISUAA, keeping those connections and the organization growing stronger each year.

ISUAA can help you continue your own relationship with Illinois State and renew friendships made with colleagues all while working to protect your benefits. In this newsletter you'll find interesting historical tidbits from board member and university archivist, April Anderson-Zorn. The University Club shares the opportunity for growth and exploration, while a wonderful calendar of entertainment in the Wonsook Kim College of Fine Arts is shared by Stephanie Kohl-Ringle. Take note of the Tech Zone update inside. They're a wonderful resource for both phone and computer concerns available to our retirees. I was there three times in the first three months of my own retirement!

Mark your calendars now for our ISUAA Spring Luncheon on March 22, 2023 in the Bone Student Center. More details and the reservation form can be found on the back of this newsletter. I sincerely hope you'll join us. Our series of meetings, programs, and meals are a great way to keep your own Redbird connections alive and build new ones along the way. As always, we will continue our commitment to support our students through the School Street Food Pantry at this event.

A great way to connect is by joining our ISUAA board of directors! We'll be having some openings soon, and I would love to chat with you over coffee about the opportunities we provide.

Spring is in the air, it's an exciting time to be involved with the future of ISUAA, and it's always a great day to be Redbird!

How time flies

By April Karlene Anderson-Zorn, university archivist,
Dr. Jo Ann Rayfield Archives at Illinois State University

150 years ago–1873

Richard Edwards went on the defensive for the University when advocating for financial appropriations for the institution's budget at the Illinois State Legislature. Several lawmakers accused the University of being "aristocratic in its character" and only open to "rich parents." As a counterpoint, Edwards recalled the story of a "most excellent and successful pupil" who disclosed that she was almost out of money and was considering leaving the school. Seeing her need, he asked her to stay and to come to him when she needed additional funds. Edwards reports: "When at the end of the term she left us, her record was complete and honorable, and she bore in her hand a certificate, most cheerfully and heartily given, expressing her worth as a woman and a teacher. So much for aristocracy!"

Proceedings of the Board of Education of the State of Illinois, Meeting Minutes, June 25 and 26, 1873, pg 9-10.

100 years ago–January - March 1923

- Betsy Edwards, the wife of ISNU's second president, Richard Edwards, passed away on December 22 at the age of 97. Mrs. Edwards was one of the oldest residents of McLean County at that time. She was reportedly a descendant of Myles Standish, a military consultant who traveled on the Mayflower and helped administer the Plymouth Colony. The Vidette, January 3, 1923 (Vol. 35, No. 15, pg 1).
- "Vaudville, Side-Shows, and Dance" were the stars of the annual Women's Athletic Association carnival on the evening of February 3. The event was held at the gymnasium and featured fortune-telling, food stands, musicians, and traditional carnival acts. The Vidette, February 7, 1923 (Vol. 35, No. 20, pg 3).
- President Felmley's most recent commencement address made its way into a new publication called The American Student. The Vidette reported that the magazine "devoted to the interests of college students throughout the country" printed excerpts of President Felmley's speech. However, the exact excerpts were not mentioned. The Vidette, March 28, 1923 (Vol. 35, No. 26, pg 6).

75 years ago–January - March 1948

- An oil shortage at Cardinal Court and the high cost of living are major concerns for residents of Cardinal Court. The mayor of the "village" consisting of military veterans and their families cites the lack of oil in the Midwest and the drastic increase in spaces utilized—"16 apartments and 12 dormitories, each requiring a central heating unit, as compared with 85 apartments and 30 dormitories this winter." The Vidette, January 14, 1948 (Vol. 60, No. 14, pg 1).
- The University reported 1,935 students enrolled in the second semester of the 1947-1948 academic year. Of that total, 978 men and 957 women. Veteran enrollment dropped between semesters from 614 to 577. Of that total, 549 were registered under the G.I. Bill, 28 under state military scholarships, and 13 were women military veterans. The Vidette, February 4, 1948 (Vol. 60, No. 16, pg 1).

- Ruth Yates's class, Introduction to Radio Broadcasting, addressed public health concerns like giving tips for appendicitis, explaining hypertension, and creating a radio demonstration of giving a baby a bath. The cross-disciplinary class taught radio students how to convey health concerns to the public. The cast of eight also created a show "on the dangers of self-medication without adequate medical knowledge." The Vidette, March 10, 1948 (Vol. 60, No. 21, pg 3).

50 years ago–January - March 1973

- Eric H. Johnson, the University's vice president, announced his retirement. Though he planned to stay active in other professional roles, Johnson and his wife explored options outside of Illinois. First an ISU alum, Johnson began his professional career in secondary education in the towns of Tamms, Bonfield, and Flanagan. The Vidette, January 5, 1973 (Vol. 85, No. 47, pg 1).
- Phil Steffen, ISU student body president, was among the first of two students ever to be selected for an Illinois university governing board. Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction, named Steffen for the role on the University of Illinois Board of Trustees. In that role, Steffen served as Bakalis's stand-in for his absences and represented in a non-voting capacity. The Vidette, February 2, 1973 (Vol. 85, No. 56, pg 1).
- Dean of Undergraduate Instruction Stanley Rives announced the launch of undergraduate teaching assistants. The new program would select 60 qualified undergraduate students to assist with leading group discussions, lab work, and other classroom needs. The students would be paid $450 for a semester or $900 for the academic year and earn three-course credits toward graduation. The Vidette, March 2, 1970 (Vol. 85, No. 71, pg 6).

25 years ago–January - March 1998

- Searches for the president and provost began in earnest. Chairperson Borg pointed senate members to the letter written by Board of Trustee Chairperson William Sulaski about the presidential search. Later in the meeting, President Strand updated the senate on the early stages of the provost search, including identifying search committee members. Illinois State University, Academic Senate Meeting Minutes, January 21, 1998, pg 3-4.
- President Strand announced a presentation by Dr. Tak Chung at the next Board of Trustees meeting. The presentation would center on the use of technology in the classroom and its value in various instructional processes. The 9 a.m. meeting would include a discussion hour before Dr. Tak Chung's presentation. Illinois State University, Academic Senate Meeting Minutes, February 4, 1998, pg 4.

- Vice President Boschini announced the next Minority Scholar in Residence, Dr. Gwendolyn Mikell, chair of African Studies in the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University. Dr. Val Moghadam recommended Mikell for the role. Mikell planned to be on campus from April 5-8. Illinois State University, Academic Senate Meeting Minutes, March 18, 1998, pg 4.

Nominations sought for 2024 Alumni Awards

The year 2024 seems far away, but the deadline to nominate an outstanding Redbird for the 2024 Alumni Awards will be here this May.

The Illinois State University Alumni Association recognizes individuals annually who personify the University's tradition as an environment for excellence. Through outstanding achievements and contributions, these individuals bring honor to Illinois State and the Alumni Association. Established in 1971 with just one award, the program has grown to six award categories. The awards—Distinguished Alumni Award, Outstanding Young Alumni Award, Alumni Achievement Award, E. Burton Mercier Service Award, Andrew Purnell Jr. Trailblazer Award, and the Senator John Maitland Jr. Commitment to Education Award—are presented annually in the spring.

The new and improved nomination process is simple with the option for the nominator or nominee to complete the form and also suggest names for letters of recommendation. Nominations can be made at Alumni.IllinoisState.edu/Awards. The deadline to submit for the 2024 awards is May 31, 2023.

Recipients are honored at a recognition ceremony where they have the opportunity to speak and formally accept the award.

Questions can be directed to Jamie Sennett '99, senior director of Alumni Engagement, at jrsenne@IllinoisState.edu.

Endowments like yours encourage exploration and creativity

By Laura Freyman, University Advancement

Professor Emerita Lois Jett began amassing a historic costume collection in 1962 for Illinois State University's then-Department of Home Economics. Today, students within the Department of Family and Consumer Sciences carry on Jett's vision for the teaching tool through regular exhibitions of historic clothing. An endowment Jett established in 1970 continues to fund updates to the collection, which now boasts more than 2,000 items, including clothing, textiles, and related artifacts.

Dr. Jennifer Banning, professor of fashion design and merchandising, and director of the Lois Jett Historic Costume Collection, said the collection's newest addition—a black dress form—was purchased with funds from the Lois Jett Historic Costume Collection Fund.

"The form is different from what we have currently because this one has arms and can be customized to add a head and/or thighs, meaning we'll more easily be able to display pants and headwear," Banning said. "We ordered one in black in an effort to provide more diversity in our exhibition practices."

Banning noted the purchase would not have been possible without support from Jett's endowment. Such additions enable students to interact more deeply with the collection and resulting exhibitions.

Recent graduate Ye Fatuki '22 worked on a Cruella De Vil-themed display for the latest exhibition, Broadway, Baby: Fashion on Stage.

"I love the fact that I got to have fun and got to play with my ideas and integrate different textures into the window display," said Fatuki, who is now working full-time to build his own fashion brand. Fatuki said the hands-on experience allowed him to explore his imagination and view the exhibit through a childlike lens.

The University Club

By Bob Preston and Kay Wilson

University Club discussion hours: The University Club is the only ISU social organization open to all faculty, staff, administrative professionals, retirees, and ISUAA members. You are cordially invited to join us online for any or all of our programs. You need not be a University Club member to attend. We meet during the fall and spring semesters during the academic year. The University Club promotes collegiality among our diverse faculty, staff, administrative professionals, and annuitants. We endeavor to sustain and promote ongoing open and free communication in this community and to support the finest ideals of education and academic life.

Spring semester 2023 programs: We present excellent speakers on diverse topics from ISU, the University community, and from experts outside of the University. For the past two years we have had our meetings exclusively using Zoom which ensured our members and guests could safely socialize during the pandemic. We are pleased to announce that with the support of the Office of the President and the Office of the Provost, we are planning to return to biweekly in-person meetings in the Faculty/Staff Commons in the Bone Student Center every other Friday from 3:30-5 p.m. We will provide hors d'oeuvres, and a cash bar for wine and other drinks will be available. At the time of this writing, the details of the program schedule are being developed. So, please see our website (UClub.IllinoisState.edu/Calendar) for updates and for program listings.

University Club Scholarships: We shall continue our long-standing tradition (30+ years) to award up to 10 $500 scholarships to Illinois State undergraduate and graduate students who were academically top achievers and who were also involved in giving back to the University and community through service. The scholarship competition is planned for February through March 2023, with a scholarship awards ceremony in April. Information about the application details will be posted at the appropriate time on our website (UClub.IllinoisState.edu/Scholarship).

If you would like to be added to the University Club listserv and receive automatic notification of future programs, please contact Bob Preston (rlpresto@IllinoisState.edu).

Best Wishes from The University Club.

Helping Hamper

By Jan Cook

At the December luncheon, donations were accepted for the School Street Food Pantry. We collected canned goods, big stacks of cereal and toothpaste and a case of mandarin oranges as well as $157 in cash donations. THANK YOU ALL. At the March Luncheon, our theme will be spring cleaning focusing on personal care items like razors, shampoo, and toothpaste. See you there!

How to recognize and avoid phishing and phone scams

By Dave Greenfield, director, Tech Zone

Phishing scams can represent a serious threat to you, your personal information, and your finances. Phishing attempts try to coerce you into giving away your most valuable information such as bank account numbers, credit card numbers, passwords, social security number, even your mother's maiden name. The people behind phishing scams want your personal info, and they are willing to go to great lengths to trick you into handing over your identity.

How can you tell the difference between a phishing scam and a legitimate call, email, or website? Unfortunately, phishing scams are becoming more and more sophisticated and increasingly difficult to identify. However, there are several strategies you can use to recognize phishing scams.

- Be skeptical! Since you know phishing scams are out there, be skeptical of emails you receive. Has your account really been violated? Do you really need to update your account information? Most companies don't wait until the last minute to spring emergencies like this on their customers. They send several notices, oftentimes through the regular mail, or they call to warn you of potential security breaches. If you get emails like this, look for clues that they might be fakes.

- Verify the web address and email address. Checking the addresses is a good way of discovering a scam. If the first part of the web address consists of numbers, the site should probably not be trusted. For example, this is an untrustworthy address: <https://172.168.15.100/ebay/account>. Even though ebay is part of the address, the first part contains numbers (called an IP address). This is a sign that something may not be right.
- Look for signs of security. Real corporate websites use secure, encrypted web pages any time their customers are asked to send personal and financial information. Look for https:// in the web address. The s stands for secure. Also look for a locked padlock icon in the lower part of your browser window or to the left of the address bar. The locked padlock icon indicates the site is encrypted, which means your data is protected when you send it over the Internet. If you don't see these signs, then the site could be a fake.
- Look for fishy (phishy) details. Most legitimate corporate emails and websites look professional. Phishing scams try to fool you, but like a photocopied dollar bill, they just do not look right. Look for poor grammar, poor spelling, and poor design. If your instincts tell you something is fishy, it probably is. Phishing scams are becoming more sophisticated each day, so this is not a sure-fire way of sniffing out a fake, but it's still a good place to start.
- Make a few phone calls. Before you click any links or fill out any forms, call the company, and don't use the phone number in the email. Get a real person on the phone to help you verify the legitimacy of the email you received. If you can't reach a company representative by phone, call the Technology Support Center at (309) 438-4357.
- Illinois State University will never ask for your password. If you receive a call or email explicitly asking for your password, this is likely a phishing attempt. University tech teams do not need your password in order to assist you and will never ask for it.
- Do not grant remote access to an untrusted source. Phone phishing scammers will often try to get you to go to a website and remotely take over your PC. Any remote connection requests should come from a trusted source, and the University will only ever ask to screen connect (in circumstances to help diagnose a problem) by directing you to ScreenConnect.IllinoisState.edu.
- Contact the Technology Support Center at ISU! If you are still uncertain of the legitimacy of an email you have received, contact the Technology Support Center which can verify whether or not the email is legitimate or spam. You can also check Illinois State's alert page at Alerts.IllinoisState.edu, which is frequently updated with current spam messages being sent to university Outlook email recipients. To inquire about a questionable email you have received, give the TSC

Update from the ARC

Did you know that starting January 1, 2023, those enrolled with Total Retiree Advantage Illinois (TRAIL) Program with Aetna Medicare will have the added extra benefit of SilverSneakers. You can use that benefit at Normal Township's Activity and Recreation Center (ARC). The ARC provides a modern, friendly atmosphere for socialization and fitness as well as recreational, nutritional, health support and assistance services for adults 55 and above that are in and outside of McLean County,

With SilverSneakers your $30 ARC membership fee can be waived! When you fill out a new membership application or a renewal application, you'll need to verify that you want to use SilverSneakers and provide your member number. You'll also need to sign a SilverSneakers-specific liability release.

Utilizing an insurance-based incentive program to pay for your membership at ARC is beneficial for both you and ARC! You receive the benefits of an ARC membership such as opportunities for socialization, access to a wide variety of exercise classes and services, and participation in ever-evolving educational programs, card and game groups, art and more, for free while ARC is reimbursed per visit or up to $20/month by SilverSneakers as long as you scan your key fob at entry.

The money received by these partners that goes beyond what a standard membership can provide ultimately help the ARC team provide members with the program offerings you have come to love by improving the Normal Township budget for senior services.

You can learn more about the ARC by visiting ActivityAndRecreationCenter.org/About-Us.

Illinois Shakespeare Festival

The Illinois Shakespeare Festival (ISF) announced its 2023 repertory season with three artistic offerings, including one Shakespearean comedy, one Shakespearean tragedy, and one contemporary play about the publication of Shakespeare's First Folio. All plays will run in repertory.

The season will launch in June 2023 with The Comedy of Errors, last performed at the festival in 2013. One of Shakespeare's earliest plays, The Comedy of Errors is a farcical tale of separated twins and mistaken identities. This comedic romp is an ISF favorite that includes madcap bawdiness, love at first sight, unexpected reunions, and happily-ever-afters.

Following will be the ISF premiere of The Book of Will by Lauren Gunderson. Gunderson's award-winning The Book of Will asks the audience to consider a literary world without Shakespeare's First Folio and the iconic characters contained therein. Set amid the noise and color of 1620s London, The Book of Will presents a story of love, loss, and laughter.

The final performance in repertory will be The Tempest, last performed at the festival in 2010 and widely believed to be the final play Shakespeare wrote. The banished noble Prospero harnesses the power of an otherworldly island to conjure a storm and torment the survivors of a shipwreck that includes the King of Naples and Prospero's treacherous brother, Antonio. Prospero seeks revenge but discovers forgiveness and generosity in this tale full of magical spirits.

Patrons can also anticipate other beloved staples of the Illinois Shakespeare Festival experience including a Theatre for Young Audiences (TYA) production, Summer Camps for Youth, the annual John Stevens Memorial Golf Outing on Monday, June 19, and the unforgettable end of season Bard Bash and Cabaret on Sunday, August 6.

Season tickets for the 2023 season will be available beginning Tuesday, February 14. Individual tickets will be available beginning Tuesday, March 21.
